THE EVOLVING DATA STRUCTURED STOREHOUSE
AND ITS OPERATIONG SOFTWARE

V. V. Fertikov, A. P. Tolstobrov

The described complex is a central part of the integrated information support system of university administration. The information storehouse provides unified representation, centralized storage and service of diverse data, used by specialized subsystems, allowing tracing and keeping the information about evolution submitted and new appearing structural units without making any changes in the database scheme.