THE EXPERT SYSTEM OF PATIENT STATE ESTIMATION

V.G. Rudalev, M.A. Artemov, R.V. Zhukov

The functional possibilities of the expert system of the estimation and forecasting of patient state are considered in the paper. The structure of the system, the main elements of which are the subsystems of the calculation of the diagnostic factors and analytical information is described. The algorithms of determination statistical relationship between quantitative and qualitative factors of the disease are offered.