

SOIL-ZOOLOGICAL CHARACTERISTIC OF STEPPE KATENA (BY THE EXAMPLE OF STONE STEPPE)

V. V. Govorov, E. A. Negrobova, B. P. Akhtyrtshev

The purpose of the researches which are carried out in 2002-2003 years, was definition of specific structure of mesofauna of Stone steppe, and also revealing of possible causation between population structure of large invertebrates and some properties of soil. For this purpose from watershed to terraces and to pond was draw a straight line, which opening three types of soil. In area of the pit, incorporated for the characteristic of soil, were selected (according to M. S. Giljarova's technique) large soil invertebrates, which then were defined up.