

COMPARATIVE RESEACH OF ANTIOXYDANT ACTIVITY VEGETATIVE GATHERING

S. R. Hasanova, T. I. Plehanova, D. T. Gashimova, E. H. Galiahmetova, E. A. Klysh

The vegetative phenolic compounds are one of the most perspective group of biologically active substances, which have antioxydant activity. We have carried out comparative reseach antioxydant activity of the seven various vegetative gathering which are recommended for treatment of cardiovascular diseases, with use of the reseach techniques based on antioxydation of adrenaline in the alkaline solution and on culture of cells.