

MICROBIOLOGICAL INVESTIGATION OF SUPPOSITORIES TREATMENT BACTERIAL VAGINITIS

S. N. Zubova

The paper presents the results of a microbiological investigation of suppositories, which contain metronidazole with trimecaine and metronidazole with furazolidone. It was shown that developed suppositories possess necessary antimicrobial activity. It is established, that used preservative has provided microbiological stability.