

PRACTICAL ASPECTS OF COMPARATIVE CHARACTERISTICS OF INFORMATION SYSTEM ORGANIZATION'S

I. V. Kalnizkaya

Practical aspects of comparative characteristics of finance bookkeeping, bookkeeping management and taxation consist of comparison of categories "income", "expenses" in context of each information system under review. Detailed study of indicated categories allows to identify principal elements of integration information stream system of finance bookkeeping, bookkeeping management and taxation, so long as integration of system under study is one of direction of forming model of calculation system of organization, that functioning in coordination with definite rules provides information different categories of users in necessary for them aspects.