

RUSSIAN LABOUR MARKET: MAJOR TRENDS AS A RESULT OF REFORMS

L.I. Smirnych

The paper illuminates major trends of changes in Russian labor market during the reform period, namely employment level decrease, accelerating inter-regional disproportion, transforming inter-branch structure of employment and changing employment by the type of property, rising scale of non-traditional forms of employment.

The author depicts the influence of changes in labor market on a level and a differentiation of compensation system.