

MORPHOLOGICAL SPORES' FEATURES FROM THE UPPER FRASNIAN OF NORTHERN TIMAN

M.G. Raskatova

In present article results of research of morphological features from the upper Frasnian dispersed spores and spores in situ dispute from a site on cape East Ludovatyi Nos (Northern Timan) are given. Detailed studying of exine's sculpture dispute in light and electronic microscopes is carried out. Generic and specific attributes on an example of an available material are considered.