

THE US NATIONAL POLICY IN THE COURSE OF LIBERAL IDEOLOGY TRANSFORMATION (THE END OF THE XIX - THE BEGINNING OF THE XX CENTURY)

S.V. Gievskaya

The article is devoted to the problem of the US liberal ideology transformation at the end of the XIX century, which caused serious changes in the sphere of home and foreign policy. In the first part of the article the author considers the reasons why American society had to review the classical liberal ideals. The widening of the sphere of the state regulation and the appearance of the socially responsible state are also considered. The second part of the article is devoted to the influence of renewed liberal ideology on the American foreign policy and the formation of global foreign policy thinking. The following conclusion is drawn: at the end of the XIX-the beginning of the XX century American liberalism underwent serious evolution, which brought to life a new social-liberal ideology in the spheres of home and foreign policy.
